

Marwane Adlani
Student Advisor

Marwane is an alumni of Delaware College Scholars. He graduated from the University of Delaware with a degree in Computer Science and currently works as a Software Engineer for Wilmington Trust/M&T Bank.

Marwane was born in Morocco before moving to the United States and attending public schools in Queens, NY and Delaware. While attending Mount Pleasant High School, he applied for the DCS program, which would have a huge impact on his life. He gained many valuable skills during his time at DCS and wanted to ensure others would benefit from the program in the same way he did, leading to him becoming a student advisor and member of the DCS board.

Marwane served as a Resident Assistant during his time at UD, supporting students through challenges ranging from personal conflicts to mental health. When he wasn't on duty as an RA, he spent a large amount of time with peers in the Computer Science program, working on projects and making genuine connections. This led to him being hired as an intern for Wilmington Trust in his sophomore year, a role he continued to serve in through college graduation.
