

Jake Myers
College Persistence Director

Jake Myers graduated from Dickinson College in 2016 where he earned his BA in History. While at Dickinson, Jake lettered in football all four years and finished his career ranked tenth all-time in career tackles.

Jake has worked with Delaware College Scholars since 2014 and has served in a variety of roles including Student Advisor, Dorm Parent and currently, College Persistence Director. In this role, Jake helps ensure our scholars' success by navigating a smooth transition to college, providing personalized academic and financial advisement as scholars continue their college careers, and just always being available to chat about experiences, roadblocks, or concerns students may be having. Jake is always on-the-go as he regularly meets with our scholars on the campus of the university or college they are attending.

When he's not in the office or on a college campus, you can find him playing pickup hoops, watching any and all sports and dominating his opponents in fantasy football.
