

Jordan Bonner

Program Director & Community Liaison

Jordan Bonner received his master's degree in Psychology and Education from Cambridge University this past Spring. Prior to his time at Cambridge, Jordan earned his undergraduate degree in Psychology from Wesleyan University. While at Wesleyan, Bonner was a captain of the men's basketball team where he scored 1,000 career points and was named NESCAC Defensive Player of the Year as a senior.

A native of Houston, Texas, Jordan has worked with Delaware College Scholars since 2014 and has served in a variety of roles including Student Advisor, College Essay teacher and currently, Program Director and Community Liaison. In these roles, Jordan will be responsible for developing community partnerships with various organizations and directing the three-week residential portion of Delaware College Scholars during the summer. Moreover, he will also serve as a resource for our freshman and sophomore college students, providing them personalized academic and financial advice throughout their journey.
